

TERMS OF USE

Welcome to 4CADIA's Website Terms of Use.

Here we explain to You the rules of navigation and the terms and conditions applicable, which must be followed while using our site.

About Us

4CADIA is a consulting and development services company for the development of software, applications and systems customized to the needs of its clients.

What We Do on our Site

In our site, besides telling more about what we do, the products and services we develop, we make available to the User a Questionnaire to be filled out. In this questionnaire we collect information so that we can better understand the company you represent and thus provide you with educational materials such as e-books, articles and other content on topics related to software development - 4CADIA's core activity.

How It Works

You can visit our website, learn a little more about us and choose to answer the Questionnaire. When you finish the Questionnaire, you will receive the result and we will check your interest in understanding more about the services offered by 4CADIA.
